Parenting can be a very rewarding experience and it also can be very tiring. Conventionally, parents, caregivers and teachers approved or disapproved a child's behavior with punishments and rewards, but in the long term, how effective is this style? Our expert speaker offers a simple yet revolutionary framework for rethinking our relationships with children. This new approach helps us, look beneath challenging behaviors to find and meet children's needs and ours too.

Pavithra Rajagopalan is a Montessori teacher trainer (Early Childhood) for Association Montessori Internationale (AMI). After gaining her AMI Primary diploma In 2005, she worked in Montessori schools in India, the US and New Zealand. Pavithra is faculty at the Sir Ratan Tata Institute, Bombay, India. She is also faculty for Diploma courses in China and Tanzania. She has conducted orientation courses in India, Singapore, China and Israel. She is greatly interested in exploring Good Practices in Early Childhood Education, to find common threads across different schools of thought. Pavithra works closely with the Gandhian Institution, Shanti Ashram, India, where she is involved in strengthening pioneering projects related to Early Childhood Education in under-served communities.
